The National Affordable Housing Act of 1990 created the Family Self-Sufficiency (FSS) Program to promote economic self-sufficiency among participating families. Eligible families are connected with the appropriate support services and resources in their communities needed to move the family toward economic self-sufficiency and to obtain employment.

- ❖ FSS is an opportunity to improve your personal financial situation.
- ❖ FSS will put cash into a special savings account (called an escrow account) to reward you if you increase your earned income and successfully complete the program.
- ❖ As your earned income increases, so does the amount that FSS deposits into the escrow account for you each month.
- ❖ FSS provides case management support to help participants achieve goals related to employment, education, finances or even homeownership.

Attend one of the following scheduled orientations and find out if you should join the Family Self-Sufficiency Program.
